ONE OF THE BRIGHTEST SPOTS in the Village this Christmas season is the Village Art Gallery on Delfino Place, where a giant white tree in the window beckons visitors upstairs to a holiday array of small paintings, decorations and hand-made cards. Adding their own beauty to the scene are Linda Christie, painting at the easel, and her sister Laurie Lynn, adding another ornament to the tree. The girls are the daughters of the gallery's artist-owner, Virginia Ford.

Christmas wishes expressed by Valley youngsters

Waiting in line to see Santa can seem like an eternity, if you are four or five or six years old and have been waiting all year for Christmas to roll around again.

At least that's the way it seemed outside the Community Center Saturday morning, as thumb-sucking toddlers, fidgety little girls and boys trying hard to be casual waited for their chance to tell Santa their Christmas wish list. And when the big moment came to sit on Santa's lap, more than one awed youngster forgot what he wanted to say altogether, or substituted an all-purpose request for "toys."

The Outlook conducted a junior poll of its own, to find out what Valley youngsters like about Christmas and what they wanted most of all. These are some of the responses:

Photos by George T.C. Smith

"Ooooh. We want toys and a cow girl suit and a hat. We have a very pretty tree only the lights aren't on it yet. How does Santa get in the house? He touches his nose and gets down the chimney. It's magic."—Amy Clark, 6, and Eva Clark, 7.

What do I like best about Christmas? Oh, opening the presents and decorating the tree. I'll probably get a slot car set for Christmas."—Todd Halley, 8.

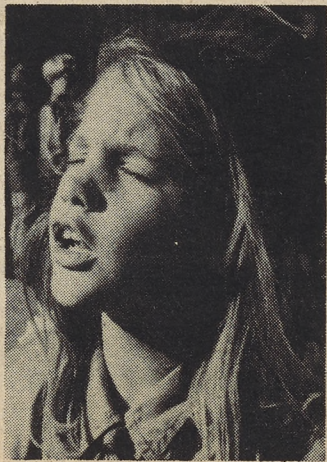

"I think I like getting presents the best of anything at Christmas. I want a Spirofoil. That's all. I just get to ask for one thing."—Diane McKenzie, 7.

"I like the presents best at Christmas. And at our house we sing songs and eat and decorate the tree and stuff. I want a Sizzler 8 racing track."—Richard Foote, 7.

"I want a big butterfly catcher. I want the kind of butterfly catcher that keeps the butterfly in it."—Jennifer Keator, 3.

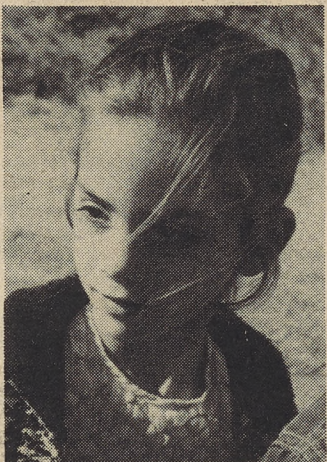

"I like it when you wake up and go open your presents and play by the tree. I want to have a rock tumbler. We live by the river, so I like to polish rocks a lot."—Laurie McGlochlin, 9.

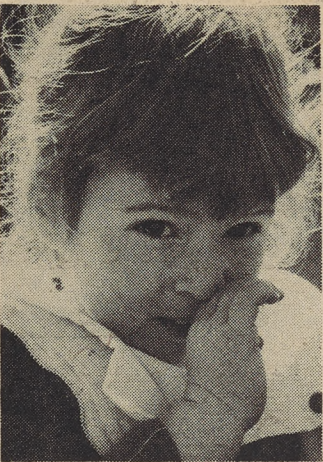

"I think one of the best things about Christmas is just sitting in front of the Christmas tree. I want Santa to bring me a doll called Beautiful Chrissy."—Dorilea Draper, 7.

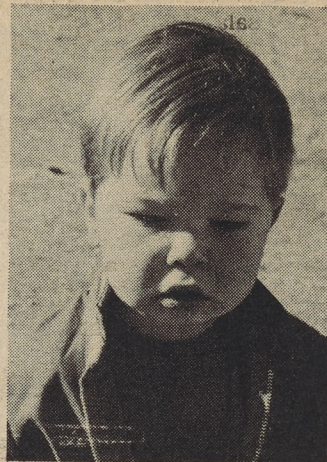

"I want a bathing suit. I think I'd like a green one. And I'd like a Baby Go By."—Josefina Ramon, 7.

I want a teddy bear. A big one. I like Santa Claus best about Christmas."—Mary Williams, 5.

"I want a mirror. My other one broke."—Mary Hallisey, 3.

"I want a plane."—Jon Jones, 3.

Milestone Foundation ready to apply for federal aid for 'Halfway House'

BY PAT GRIFFITH

The Milestone Foundation plans to apply for a federal grant of $105,000 to help finance a heroin half-way house which will probably be located at Rancho Del Robledo in Robles del Rio.

Dr. C. Winter Van Horn said yesterday that a formal application for funds to cover 60 percent of an anticipated first year's budget of $175,000 will be submitted to the California Council on Criminal Justice before Dec. 30. The CCCJ funnels funds provided under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 to individual projects which are favorably reviewed by local CCCJ task forces.

Dr. Van Horn will serve as combined medical director and executive director of the project, which is expected to start as a pilot program with 15 to 20 residents living and working in two small groups. As time goes on and methods prove effective, he said, there might be up to 100 residents living on the 37-acre estate at one time.

At a CCCJ regional task force meeting in Salinas last week, Dr. Van Horn and Joseph Askey, president of the Milestone Foundation, withdrew an original "letter of intent" regarding the project before it was formally considered.

Attached to that letter was a proposed budget for salaries totalling $117,300, including a director and co-director at $15,000 each, a youth director at $10,200 and two registered nurses at $9,000 each.

BUDGET IN QUESTION

Dr. Van Horn said he had not had time to study that budget in detail before the CCCJ meeting, and that when he did look at the proposed staff, he was "appalled."

He said the list had been drawn up by a member of the Milestone board, who based the positions on the Milestone center for alcoholics in Maine and then added a cost of living increase for California.

"The result was completely inaccurate. It was impossible," Dr. Van Horn said. "Joe (Askey) and I looked at each other at the same time and said 'This is out.'"

"For instance - there won't be both a director and co-director. There will not be a youth director. There will not be two registered nurses. You need them when you are taking care of alcoholics, who may suffer DT's - that's a medical necessity there. Nurses are not needed for this program."

"So we told the task force we would submit a new letter of intent and a new accurate budget that says what we plan to do here."

The withdrawn application listed Askey as "project director." However, Dr. Van Horn said yesterday, Askey's role will be one of liaison and public relations, for which he will receive a salary, but he will have no direct involvement with the treatment program. He will serve as a non-voting member of the board of directors.

The following is the revised "letter of intent", which is the first official statement on the Milestone project to be submitted to the California Council on Criminal Justice:

Gentlemen:

Re: The Milestone Foundation, Inc.
Corporation No. 506470

The Milestone Foundation, Inc. intends to make application for federal funds available through the provisions of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act. Our program will involve the tri-county area consisting of Monterey, San Benito, and Santa Cruz counties.

These funds are to be expended in the maintenance of a "halfway house" for habilitation of persons with the misfortune of having developed an addiction to heroin. We intend to engage in the scientific study and evaluation of those residents who undergo habilitation in this program in order that a rationale for a positive approach can be established. This, then, can be disseminated to others who are also interested in developing programs aimed at helping the addict help himself to stay free of the need for escape through drugs. Residents will be provided with food, shelter and clothing, regardless of race, creed, color or sex; and also with the benefits of confrontation-encounter group therapy, empirical experiences, psychological, educational, spiritual, and legal counseling. The program will also utilize occupational therapy and vocational training so that the residents will not have time to be burdened with negative thoughts about themselves and the resultant temptations to escape from these through surcease by need of drug administration. These benefits and services will be provided upon a charitable basis to the extent made possible by contributions and donations to the corporation and to render such benefits and services at the lowest fees consistent with a non-profit but efficient management. The use of these facilities and services will be restricted to those individuals voluntarily requesting aid and through referrals from the medical and/or law enforcement agencies located within the geographical limits of Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties. It must be understood, however, that persons referred enter our program not through coercion by the referring source but on a purely voluntary basis; as persons without strong motivation for "cure" are not suitable candidates for a program such as ours.

We sincerely believe that the only rational approach to maintaining a permanent drug free life is through the direction toward and establishment of complete faith in oneself, thereby nullifying the need for any artificial escape from the confrontation of the problems of everyday living as they arise. We further believe that the person with faith in himself and a positive outlook toward life will be able to make a decision as the need arises without procrastination and the resultant piling up of pressures on himself through these deferred decisions weighing on his mind.

In as much as our program encompasses a somewhat innovative approach to the problem of drug dependence and/or addiction; it will, at first be in the nature of a pilot project with fifteen to twenty residents. As our methodology proves itself to be effective, we envision possible expansion of our program here to a maximum of one hundred residents at any one time.

The anticipated location of this proposed facility will be in Carmel Valley, Robles Del Rio area, California.

The Milestone Foundation, Inc. is seeking a grant of approximately $105,000 from the CCCJ. The purported total first year's operating & administrative costs will be $175,000. It is estimated that the Department of Mental Health and donations from other organizations & private individuals and in kind services will provide a match of sufficient proportions to total 40 percent of the total costs of the project.

Operation of the Milestone Foundation, Inc. facilities will most likely affect programs operated by Law Enforcement Agencies, Departments of Health, Medical Associations, and Departments of Education of Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito Counties.

The formal applications for funding Milestone Foundation, Inc. will be submitted prior to December 30, 1970.

Sincerely yours,
C. WINTER VAN HORN, M.D.
Medical Director
Milestone Foundation, Inc.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Re: The Milestone Foundation, Inc.
Corporation No. 506470

As you undoubtedly know, we submitted a letter of intent regarding application for federal funding through the Regional Task Force of the California Council on Criminal Justice. This funding was to be applied toward maintenance of a halfway house for persons unfortunate enough to have developed addiction to heroin.

The proposed budget in the application accompanying the letter of intent was hastily prepared by others than myself and Mr. Askey, and we had no chance to study it carefully prior to arrival at the task force meeting. However, after our perusal of the budget and its associated proposed staff and salaries, we saw that it was unbalanced and completely inappropriate for a program such as we envisioned. The application was therefore withdrawn along with the budget at the time of submission to the task force and we instructed the members at the meeting to disregard, delete, and discard it. This was Mr. Askey's opening statement to the task force in the form of a request to delete it completely, and he asked that the record show this to be a fact.

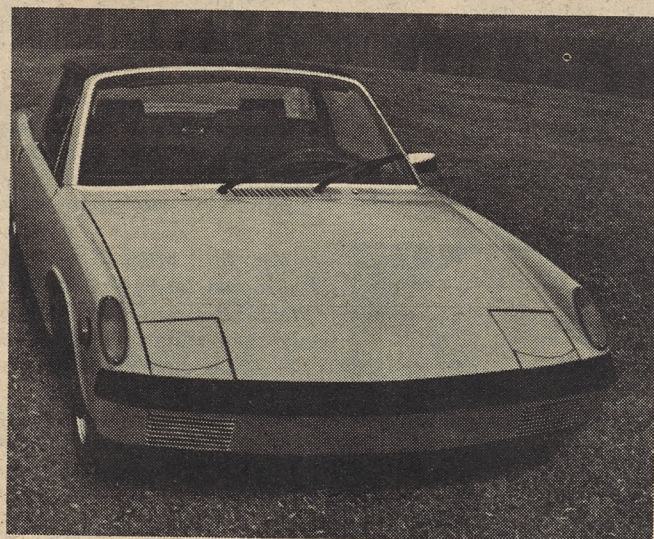

The day following the meeting, I phoned the chairman of the task force and told him that I wished the letter of intent to be withdrawn, as well, with the provision that a new letter of intent more clearly stating our position and our proposed program would be drawn up and submitted to each member. This has been done.

It has now come to my attention that a copy of the original letter and application has been shown about the area and purported to be the copy of the letter of intent actually submitted to the California Council on Criminal Justice in Sacramento. Hence, I am giving you a copy of the revised letter of intent, so that there need be no further question about this issue of our aims and intentions. We trust that this will serve those circulating the previous letter the embarrassment of having to find out the hard way that we did not approve the original letter of intent and asked that it not be taken under consideration at that time. This is a matter of record according to the minutes of the Task Force meeting held on the 16th of Dec. 1970, at the Chamber of Commerce Building located in Salinas, Calif.

Sincerely,
C. WINTER VAN HORN, M.D.
Medical Director

LAST WEEK'S VALLEY KIWANIS NEWSLETTER carried such a beautiful Christmas wish that we asked bulletin editor, Fred Fisher's, permission to share it with you... "The gift I most wish for on Christmas for those with loved ones far from home is one that nobody can wrap in scarlet tissue and tie with gold. It is the crunch of snow-deep tires on a winding country lane, the banging of a gate, and the sounds of voices calling, "Surprise! We're here! We made it! We're HOME again!"..." MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Supervisors extend ban on trailers in Valley

Trailers in Carmel Valley came up for discussion again last week, with the Board of Supervisors voting a one year extension of an ordinance banning trailers and mobile homes in residential areas without a special permit.

On January 5, the board will consider a recommendation by the County Planning Commission that all of Carmel Valley from Highway 1 through the Village be placed in a "J" zone, which would flatly prohibit the use of mobile homes or trailers in residential areas. This would not have any effect on trailers already in use.

The day after the board's ruling, the Planning Commission was faced with the problem of whether or not to grant a use permit to Dr. Joseph Noto to place a demonstration mobile home on 16 acres he owns on Schulte Road which he hopes to have rezoned for a mobile home park. The application for rezoning will be heard on Feb. 24.

Chairman Leon H. Stutzman opposed Dr. Noto's request, because "It's an application for exactly what we recommended against."

When commissioner Keith Evans of Carmel suggested setting a hearing on the matter for Jan. 27, Dr. Noto said he would rather withdraw his application and instead have Bud Giles, operator of the Monarch Pines Mobile Home Park in Pacific Grove, put a single unit on his property.

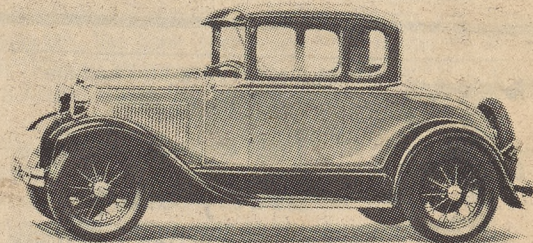

"If it's not going to be lived in, I don't know why we're doing all this," commented Commissioner Vaughn Parsons of Carmel Valley.

Planning Director Edward W. De Mars suggested this would raise legal complications, but Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon said there was no law against simply parking such a unit as long as no one lives in it.

With that assurance, Dr. Noto withdrew his application and said the demonstration on his property would be limited to a single mobile home with wood exterior and a shake roof.

In another matter, the Planning Commission approved an application by rancher William G. Lambert of Jamesburg to zone 32 acres on Tassajara road for use by trailers and camper trucks. Final approval must come from the Board of Supervisors.

There's A Girl In My Soup'

is a real gourmet treat

The girl in "There's A Girl In My Soup" is none other than Brit Lind, and what she does to this 'bowl of soup' should be done to every play.

This British comedy opened last weekend at Carmel's Studio Theatre, and will surely brighten the holiday theatre season as well as the weeks to come.

With toothsome Brit and debonair Jim Jordan in the leading roles, Director Bill Asp had little difficulty in staging one of the more delightful comedies of this or any other Carmel theatre season.

The stage is also brightened with the presence of LaVonne Rae Andrews, who makes of her supporting role something extra special.

All in all it is entertainment in the current vein, bright and light, with a generous serving of sexual overtones.

Jim Jordan is a sensational choice for the role of Robert Danvers, a professional gourmand as well as a professional womanizer -- until he tangles with Marion, played by the effervescent and seductive Miss Lind. The middle-aged Satyr more than meets his match in the teen-aged modster.

The entire cast is superb and contributes to the briskly paced action, the perfectly turned phrase and the cleverly spoken innuendo, of which there are quite a few.

John S. Baker as Andrew Hunter, the editor of the magazine to which Robert Danvers prominently contributes; the venerable John Sullivan as John, the houseman who watches the women come and go with considerable awe as well as concern; Betty Burr as Paola, the sexy babysitter who can't possibly escape Danvers' roving eye; and young Bob Beckstrom as Jimmy, the drummer boy who gives up Marion to the wordly Danvers, but not for long.

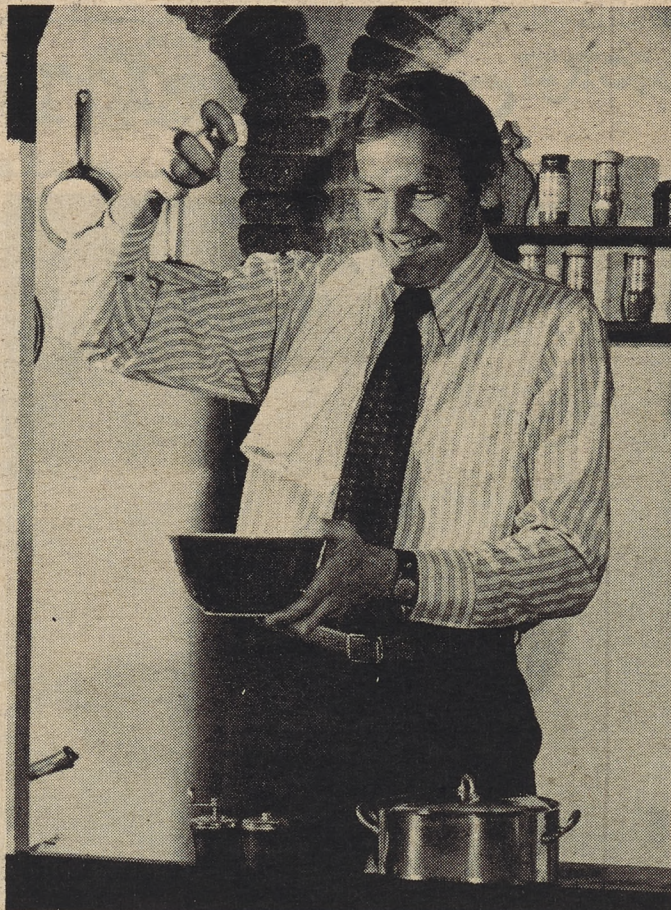

Director Asp must certainly be congratulated for the Carmel production of this Terence Frisby play, which has been staged both in New York and London, together with a road show starring Pierre Aumont which appeared in San Francisco last year, which was vastly inferior to the production put together by Asp.

It follows on the heels of his version of "Private Lives", which had a sensational run at the Studio Theatre.

"Girl In My Soup" featured a rather intricate set, including a kitchen for the redoubtable culinary talents of the redoubtable (and pompous) Robert Danvers. The set was built by Edie Donahoe, John S. Baker, Richard Vargas and Paul Boczkowski. They earn merits of excellence.

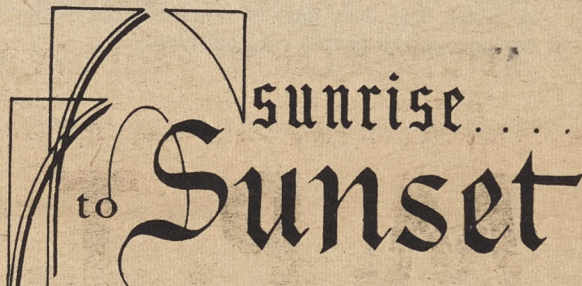

The costumes, which were not credited, are also deserving of encomiums.

If it's necessary to get a few moments free from the tensions and turmoil and unsolvable problems which rent our lives - in order perhaps to see them more clearly - "There's A Girl In My Soup" is a splendid interlude. And a word of commendation is also due Chef Walter Jones, Jr., whose Studio Restaurant dinners always are excellent, even without a girl in the soup, or in fact any soup at all. GMD

ROBERT DANVERS (Jim Jordan) does the Graham Kerr bit to demonstrate his authenticity as an international gourmet in "There's A Girl In My Soup" at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant. The Terence Frisby comedy, now in its fifth year in London, will play an augmented holiday schedule nightly from December 26 through January 3 and thereafter the customary Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Management Center in Vietnam. Spe. Osio's wife, Jeanne, lives at 274 El Caminito in Carmel Valley.

A clerk-typist in the center's 241st transportation company, Spec. Osio was selected for his soldierly appearance, knowledge and performances of duties and military courtesy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Briccio Osio of Marina.

XXX

In an editorial appearing in last week's Outlook, a correction is in order. It was inadvertently stated that Supervisor Tavernetti had voted with Supervisor Branson for splitting Carmel Valley in twain. Rather, it was Supervisor Arthur Atteridge of Salinas who voted with Branson on the short end of the 3-2 vote.

XXX

A Red Cross course in advanced first aid will be offered at the Carmel Valley fire house on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. starting January 14.

The course is open to all holders of a current Red Cross standard first aid card. The only charge will be $1 to purchase a first aid manual, for those who don't already own one.

XXX

The regular meeting of the Carmel School Board, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been cancelled. The next regular meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 13.

XXX

Captain Francis F. Simmons will retire from the California Highway Patrol on January 1. Captain Simmons, who lives on Brookdale Dr., has been in charge of the Monterey Area for the CHP. He will be replaced by Captain Harold R. Jones, formerly a lieutenant in the Visalia area.

XXX

Fort Ord is opening a drug center on Jan. 4 in Building 2864 on D Street. Any serviceman or woman seeking rehabilitation for drug abuse or addiction who voluntarily presents himself as a drug user to his commanding officer, surgeon, chaplain or authorized staff member of the drug center will be granted amnesty. Visits to the drug center will be kept confidential.

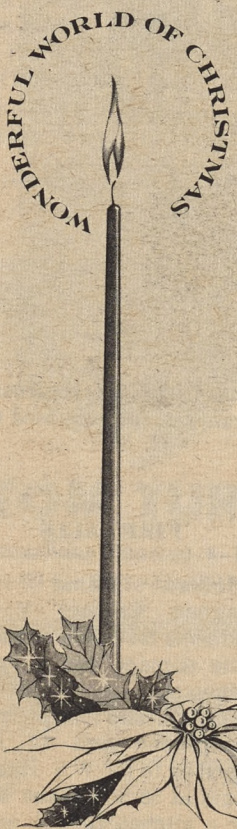

The drug center will be staffed day and night. A person seeking help can dial DRUG (3784) to get assistance or information. Taxi service will be available to bring a caller to the center if necessary.

VISION CARE

BY DR. R.E. MARLIN
(consulting optometrist)

How often should you have your eyes examined?

It is wise to have your vision examined at least once a year. The rate at which vision changes depends upon a person's age, his general health, the condition of his eyes and how he uses them. In many cases, just a short office visit will be sufficient to ensure that there has been no significant change in either the refractive state or the health of the eyes.

Every child should be examined before he enters kindergarten. Three out of ten children have uncorrected vision deficiencies which handicap them in school. A check up by your optometrist once a year is a good investment. Vision changes tend to slow down during late teens, though a few develop problems during the college years.

From ages 20 to 40 vision changes vary with eye usage or occupational requirements.

From age 40 to 60 is a period of rapid changes. The need for a near correction is beginning and examination should be made yearly for maximum visual efficiency.

Beyond the age of 60 focus changes slow down, but now the threat of health changes or abnormal function is greater. No person of this age should go more than a year without examination. It's a small price to pay to protect your most precious possession.

Please send in your questions.

FIRE CALLS

Several minor fires plagued Carmel Valley residents last week, causing little damage but a lot of annoyance.

On Saturday four pieces of equipment and 17 men reported to the W.S. Dawson home at 58 Southbank Road for a kitchen fire. A pot of food had simmered on the stove too long, burning through the pot and creating clouds of smoke. The firemen cleared out the smoke, and damage was limited to $5 -- the pot and its contents.

Saturday afternoon an overheated engine started a fire in a car driven by Mrs. Ron Alexander. The fire was out by the time the fire department arrived at the scene on Carmel Valley Road and Phelps Way.

One fire truck cruised up and down Lilac Lane late Sunday afternoon when a caller reported seeing sparks coming from a chimney. But no sparking chimney or smoking roof was located.

At 7:42 p.m. Sunday Philip Cordrey called firemen to his home on W. Garzas Road when he smelled electric insulation burning and couldn't locate the source. Firemen pulled the main circuit breaker and told Cordrey to call an electrician.

Santa comes to Carmelo!

WHATEVER IT IS that Darrin Furtado, left, wants Santa to bring him, Cammy Antoncich thinks its pretty funny. Next to Cammy is Lane Wilder.

Photos by George T.C. Smith

LINDA HANSSENS assures Santa she has been a good girl all year and hopes he'll remember to come to her house on Christmas Eve.

Merry
Christmas

IT WAS LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT when Charlotte Garrett, a kindergartener at Carmelo School, looked deep into Santa's eyes and told him her cherished hopes for Christmas.

THERE WAS NO HOLDING BACK the crowd when Santa and his helpers touched down at the Carmel Valley airport Saturday morning. Boy Scouts were supposed to keep everybody away from the plane, but by the time it had taxied to a stop, children of all ages were swarming around and under the wings hoping to be among the first to greet their great and good friend from the North Pole.

A BOY SCOUT HONOR GUARD leads the big parade as Santa Claus rides atop a fire engine to the Community Center on Saturday. Santa arrived at the airport on schedule after a special charter flight from the North Pole arranged by Al Hood. He was greeted by more than 100 excited children, their parents and weather almost too good to be believed.

HARRIET DUNCAN

A special greeting though it be fleeting, to each wonderful guy and gal in the beautiful Valley of Carmel

BY PAT GRIFFITH

Trim the trees! Clip off more holly!
Tis the Season to be jolly.
Chores are many, time is fleeting,
So we send this Christmas greeting
Far and wide! May all proclaim
Best wishes to the friends we name:
So let the merry making begin
For sun-drenched scribe John Woolfenden,
For Leon Mink, the families Merrill
Sing out another Christmas carol.
Best wishes Gordon Miyamoto,
Irene Baldwin, Doctor Noto,
Peter Lyon, Neva Lacy,
Mark Thomas, the Wester's Stacy.
Light a log for Helen Maxon,
Salih Mehdy, Peter Paxton,
Leonard Rhoades and Rollo Payne,
Ed Marcucci and Derek Rayne.
Strike up a mighty anvil chorus
For Doctors Tocchet, Van Horn, Morris,
Miller, Hanel, Marshall, Petkus
(And hope the flu bug doesn't get us.)
Bless the Woods, Kathleen and Bill,
In their eyrie on the hill,
The Wolfs and Sanders and their Scouts,
All Little Leaguers, ins and outs.
Happy Yuletide to the Frumkins,
Luis Wolter, King of Pumpkins;
To the Porters, Frank and Jet,
The jolliest of seasons yet.
A hey! Ho! Ho! to Willard Branson,
Roy Kaminske, Betty Hansen,
Rudi Marzi, Mildred Hattan,
Laurie Carter, Edith Brattin,
Loring Warner, Winifred Bowers,
Joe Ricupero, William Stowers.
Then again, we say All Hail
To Frank Di Napoli, Howard Vail,
Robert Kvenild, Robert Steinmetz,
Robert Read and Robert S. Getz.
Cheers! Sean Flavin, sage attorney,
Mike Antoncich, John Sigourney,
Nancy Strathmeyer and her Chuck,
Thomas Williams, Morden Buck.
We'd never miss a Christmas greeting
To Ken Van Hagen, Father Keating,
Bob and Wanda Slingerup,
The gang down at the Stirrup Cup,
Virginia Ford, Peter Delfino,
Thomas Twohig, S.N. Trevino,
Jean Kletch of the Pampered Hamper,
Rex Pryer and Andy Nottenkamper.
Let's hear another hearty chorus
For Edwin Lee and Robert Oross,
For Rex White up at Princes Camp,
Folks by the river where it's damp.
For Mal Tavares and Harold Diem,
An Angell Ruth and Harry Giem,
Plus Richard Hawkins, Molla Moss,
And Roy Forzani on his hoss.

Ring out wild bells! Be sure you peal
For Glen Mewhinney, Betty O'Neal,
Anthony Russo, Leoncio Collas,
Bud Zanetta and big Jim Poulos.
Light a candle for all the Gaymans
(Far too many for us to name-ems.)
Toast Chip Collins and his crew,
And Gordon Yates and a Dunn named Dru.
Fill the punch bowl. Let's have some morea
For Nick Zanides, Clyde Samora,
The Earl Wileys and all good neighbors,
The Mothersills, the Edgar Habers.
Bring out the haggis, skirl for joy
For Clint McCombs and Max McCoy,
For McCreery, McDonald, McGinnis, McKay,
For McKenzie, McKiernon, McNaghten, McVay.
Deck the halls for Robles' Rosie,
Robert Stanton, Barbara Pozzi,
For Jack Swanson and his Sally,
Ron Hentges and Wally Le Valley.
Joy to you, Willie Belle Mason,
H.K. Fleming, Freddie Nason.
Wrap the presents! Get the toys
For Dale and Gail and the Buche boys,
For Jason Harbert, the Ijams' Jim
And Perry McDonald - don't forget him.
Hang the mistletoe for Willard Fay,
John Dowdakin and Gwendolyn May,
For the Deans of Plaza Linda,
For Leo Berta, Olaf Grinde.
To Skalyo Nick and Rudolph Lou
A very merry Yuletide too.
More of the same to the family Brock,
To Donald Johnson and his flock,
To Dick Crispo and Cummings, Larry
The best of all that's bright and merry.
Pile high the sleigh for Sallie Witter.
For sweet young things who are baby sitters,
For both of the Fords, Ruth and By,
For Jack Nielsen and Harold Fly.
Also John Bulmer and Lou Gardner,
And Connie Hood and her flying partner.
For Georges Dobry, Lockwood, Sackman,
And R.E. Cayce, the put-it-back man;
For William Wellborn and Clayton Neill,
For Subud and the Wagon Wheel,
For Frank De Amaral and Pete De Haas
We'll all stand up and lift a glass.
And cheers to you, Jeannie Bottaro,
Col. St. E.P. Tyner, Tom Bordonaro,
Alfred and Marcella Knauss,
You'll surely hear from Santa Claus!
To the Al Baez's and Joan, Noel,
And to the Hoisingtons as well,
Plus all the Smiths from A to Z
With special thanks to George T.C.
From Del Mesa Carmel up on stilts
To Los Padres Dam where it silts,
From the top of the Grade to Rancho Odello,
To every Valley femme and fellow --
MERRY CHRISTMAS!

ONLY $4.50 A YEAR

BY MRS. B.C. FORRESTER

In the year 38 B.C. the Roman Legions were trying to make themselves comfortable in Gaul. One of the things to which they could not adjust was the Frankish taste for beer. They missed the delectable wines of their homeland. Well, if Latins at home could cultivate vineyards so could Latins abroad. They planted a vineyard which flourished on a low hill overlooking the Roman city of Mainz-on-Rhine, some 1950 years ago. When the Romans left suddenly before the advancing troops, the Christian monks took over the site and continued to grow the grapes and produce the wine. They did not however commercialize the product. Only occasionally a traveller or a guest at the monastery tasted good Rhine wine.

However in 1850 Christian A. Kuperferg arrived in Mainz and visited the site where the now famous wine was made. He began a business of exporting this well known Rhine wine, making his headquarters on the very spot where the Romans established their cellars. He dug deeper until the cellars went down seven floors. There his precious bottled wine could mature in peace at a constant temperature. Not too hot in summer, not too cold in winter.

Rulers, noblemen and merchants began to come to the winery for a taste and to buy the wine for their own cellars. Among them was the Duke of Connaught, Prince George who later was George V of England. The House of Lords adopted as their official drink the sparkling Rhine Wine. Bismarck used the winery as his foreign office in August, 1870, during the Franco-Prussian War, and enjoyed the Rhine wine with his officers and guests.

Today this pale gold-green, dry wine is available all over the world to people who know a good wine when they taste it. They don't have to travel to Mainz-on-Rhine for a glass of wine. They need go no farther than the nearest wine dealer.

Any good cook book will give a list of what wine to serve with what and when. Rhine wine (Hock or Moselle) is particularly good with seafoods, chicken, omelettes, or any light dish. It is suggested that before serving wine should be refrigerated, for several hours. Do not put ice in wine, merely chill in refrigerator.

Lamb and Mutton with Wine:

Pour ½ cup Rhine wine over shoulder or stuffed breast of lamb mutton before starting to cook. Spoon wine over meat during cooking.

Chicken Braised (Sauteed)

Cut up small fryer, or use chicken parts.

Dust cut up chicken slightly with flour. Heat 3-4 tblspns. butter in large skillet. When bubbling brown chicken quickly but well on all sides, turning with tongs. When nicely browned turn heat low, add ½ cup Rhine wine and preferred seasoning such as basil, rosemary, minced celery. Curry powder, minced green pepper, sliced, lightly floured mushrooms, salt and pepper to taste.

Quickie Tuna Dish

2 Seven Ounce Cans of Tuna ½ tsp. Grated Lemon Rind
1 tbsp. Lemon Juice 1/3 cup Rhine wine
¼ tsp. pepper 1 tbsp. Butter or Margarine
2 tsp. Flour 1 tbsp. snipped Parsley

½ cup Drained Ripe Olives

About half an hour before serving, heat in saucepan gently, tuna, lemon rind, lemon juice, wine and pepper.

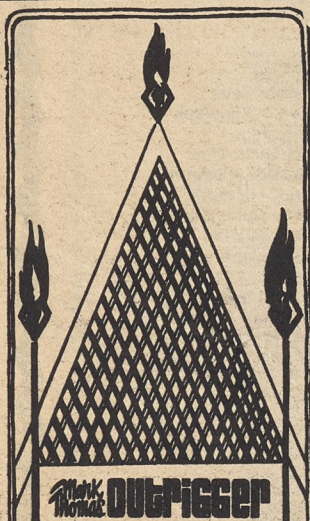

Meanwhile in small saucepan, melt butter, stir in flour, cook until bubbling hot and lightly browned. Drain hot liquid from tuna into measuring cup. Add more wine to make up ½ cup. Add to flour-butter mixture. Cook, stirring until smooth and thickened.

Turn hot tuna into serving dish; pour sauce over tuna. Sprinkle with parsley and garnish with olives.

Fresh Peaches in Wine

6 Peaches ¼ pint white wine 2 tbsp. powdered sugar
Peel the fruit. Cut them in quarters. Put them in shallow glass pie dish, sprinkle with the wine, and with the sugar. Let them stand for an hour or two. Serve cold.

Students at All Saints' Day School express the meaning of Christmas

Bonnie Mills

Dec. 17, 1970

The Rhyming Philosopher

ADVERTISEMENT

Our Christmas Trees are beacons of good will
To men of every nation, race, and hue,
As proven in each town here in the West
Where none are enemies and none oppressed.
Our sons and daughters intermarry, too,
And all may worship God in freedom still.

So this year let us make our Christmas trees
A great deal more than just a shining light:
Instead of bells and bows for decoration,
Display the flag and colors of each nation,
Presenting to the world the welcome sight
There are such things as free democracies.

But, more important, on the trees outdoors
These clustered flags would advertise the truth,
And most of all in center of each town
A giant tree with flags a glowing crown,
Reminding all, both elderly and youth
That Brotherhood blooms best within these shores.

The peoples of the world, when left in peace,
Accept each other readily as friends.
Self-serving leaders agitate the strife
Which fosters hate instead of love of life.
So show the hand of fellowship extends
To all, that freedom's hope shall never cease.

What Christmas means to me

It means giving presents to your friends and relatives. I didn't mention relieving because it's much more fun to give than to relieve. Also to exchange love. It is also time to have fun. You get to get out of school and rest your brain.
You can decorate your house and get a lot of food and candy. You can get a huge Christmas tree and decorate it with lots of stuff. Then hang up your stocking. It is a time of happiness and joy.

You are invited to enjoy

Five Poppy Road Afternoons Only
- Mrs. Robert Ewing

In homes, kennels and pet shops across the country, still nestled snugly against brothers and sisters, are the puppies and kittens who have been bought as Christmas pets. Being only baby animals, they have no premonition of what fate lies in store for them. Most of their buyers are happily planning to pick up these pets to be presented to their new owners on Christmas Day.

To those of you who have reserved pets for Christmas gifts, we make again our plea that puppies and kittens not be given on Christmas.

Unless the home he's destined for is calm and quiet through Christmas morning, unless there are no children shrieking happily, no gift wraps flying through the air, no friends dropping in for a cup of cheer, the entire gala happening is just too much for a young animal to cope with.

At best, separation from mother and littermates and familiar surroundings is upsetting to an animal. You are strange to him; so is the car ride home; so is everything he sees in this huge new world. Remember, the average pup's or kitten's world is relatively small and confined.

A healthy, friendly animal, if introduced quietly and with patience and kindness to new people and places will take it all in stride. But wrench this baby away from his only remembered home and plunk him down amidst joyous Yuletide pandemonium -- and no wonder he'll hide as far under the bed as he can get!

We suggest, if the pet is intended for children, that you buy a lovely plush toy puppy or kitten and giftwrap it with a note around its neck saying, "I'm here to say Merry Christmas from your new puppy (kitten). We're all going to pick him up tomorrow!" This will not only spare the pet some unnecessary terror, but will prolong Christmas excitement for the children. And tomorrow, hopefully, everyone will be more or less back to normal, with time to quietly get acquainted with his new friend.

If you can't cheat yourself of the thrill of giving the pet on Christmas Day, perhaps you will follow these precautions:

Never hang a puppy or kitten in a Christmas stocking. Leave this trick to the professional Christmas card photographers. Your pet may tumble out and break a leg.

Never wrap an animal in a closed gift box. If you must "wrap" a pet, do so in a ventilated wicker basket or specially designed pet carrier.

Be careful about tying pretty red ribbons on puppies and kittens. They can get twisted and choke him.

Be very careful about tree decorations and discarded gift wrapping, especially tinsel and angel's hair. They are poisonous. Fragile glass tree ornaments are not good toys; they shatter into vicious splinters. All these lovely things can be pet killers, if swallowed.

Don't let the kids play tug-of-war with their new pet! He is a baby -- soft, breakable and alive. Now is an excellent time to start teaching the children how to handle him. Animals should be lifted by placing one hand between the front legs and under the chest and the other hand between the hind legs to support the entire body.

Don't pick up a pup or kitten by the scruff of the neck and never by the legs. Mother animals know how to carry their young; you can dislocate the shoulders through your incorrect efforts.

The best thing to do is insist the children get down on the floor with the animal rather than lift him. He'll feel much more secure with all four feet on the ground and without big humans towering above him.

Ears and tails are for hearing and wagging; they are not convenient handles. Eyes are for seeing, not poking. And since puppies will eat anything, warn the kids not to feed candy and cookies -- or buttons and pins!

When you introduce an animal into new surroundings, remember that he is sorting out all kinds of new impressions. Dogs and cats are creatures of habit; a new family and home disrupts all the information the young brain has catalogued. If the new pet encounters an atmosphere of quiet friendliness and cheerful affection, he will respond in kind. If he meets with noisy confusion and a small army of over-eager humans, his defense mechanisms may be aroused.

Most puppies and kittens snap and scratch only under extreme provocation caused by mistreatment or fear. Most often, animals instinctively seek to withdraw from situations that are forcing them to act defensively. They'd rather switch than fight. When an animal tries to get away from too much rough play, he is telling you that he's had enough. If you don't respect this warning, he may snap or scratch to get his point across.

Be sure to give the new pet some time off to collect himself. Put him in the second bathroom or some warm, quiet spot with a bed, some fresh food and water and a "toilet" of spread newspapers or a litter pan. Chances are, he'll need a nap and a snack and some time to pull himself together. Puppies and kittens, like human infants, sleep a great part of the day. They need this sleep and must be allowed it.

As Christmas Day draws to a happy close, you'll probably become aware of an unhappy presence in the house. Your new pet is announcing his loneliness.

Go to him for a few moments; pet him and reassure him and close the door firmly. He'll meow or howl -- or sleep with you tonight. Welcome to the wonderful world of pets. -- And MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Special observances at Valley churches

Hundreds of Carmel Valley families will celebrate the true meaning of Christmas this week with candlelight and carols at local churches.

All Carmel Valley churches have extended a cordial invitation to visitors and persons not members of their congregation to attend one of the special services planned for Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. This is the schedule:

Carmel Valley Community Chapel: Candlelight worship service from 11 p.m. to midnight on Christmas Eve. The choir, under the direction of Judy Vanarsdall, will sing several Christmas anthems, and June Woods will sing a solo, "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings."

Following a long-standing tradition, everyone who attends the service will be given a small candle, which will be lit at the end of the service and carried out into the crisp beginning of Christmas Day.

Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula: A Christmas Eve service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., featuring familiar Christmas carols and the telling of the Christmas story.

First Baptist Church of Carmel: Because the church held a special Christmas service last Sunday, no services are planned for Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. However, the regular mid-weekly service will be held as usual at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church: Confessions and the Vigil of Christmas will be from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday, and again from 7 to 8 p.m. The Mass of the Vigil will be celebrated at 5:45 p.m. Christmas Eve.

There will also be Christmas masses at 12 midnight, and at 9 a.m. and 12 noon on Christmas Day. There will be no evening mass on Christmas.

St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church: The traditional family Christmas Eve service of carols will begin at 9 p.m. Mrs. Carol Klein, wife of organist Jay Klein, will sing a solo number, "O Holy Night". She will also perform in a trumpet trio with Philip Mothersill and George Lockwood.

There will also be a Christmas Day service of Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m.

St. Philip's Lutheran Church: A "Candlelighting Service" will be held at 7:30 p.m., consisting mostly of music and carol singing with youth participation. Each worshipper will be given a candle, which will be lit and held aloft at the close of the service during the singing of "Silent Night".

The public has also been invited to see the lifesize nativity scene constructed by the youth of St. Philip's, which will be on display throughout the Christmas season on the lawn in front of the church.

William Olkowski to discuss crisis of our environment

The environmental crisis will be the subject of William Olkowski's illustrated lecture before the Carmel Woman's Club at 2 p.m., Monday, January 4, at the Clubhouse, Ninth and San Carlos, Carmel. He will speak on the urgent problems of ecology, pollution, re-cycling our resources, and biological control; and how we can solve them.

Mr. Olkowski has an M.S. in Entomology and is currently completing his doctorate in the Division of Biological Control at the University of California at Berkeley. He worked for a year under Ken Watt in the Ecology Institute of the University of California at Davis.

He is best known in the Bay Area for his direction of the Codonices Creek Clean-Up (televised by the Columbia Broadcasting System in January and April 1970), his initiation and publicizing of waste re-cycling projects, and narrations on Educational TV programs. He helped to establish the Ecology Center in Berkeley in 1968 and is now serving on its Board of Directors.

His particular interest is to invite audience participation in exploring and developing solutions to the problems.

Pouring at tea will be Mrs. Parker Adkisson, Mrs. John T. Bissell, Mrs. C. Austin De Camp, Mrs. Charles Kasch. Hostesses are the Mmes. Thornton Allen, L. Abinante, Verne Chaney, Fanchon Freeman, James Dixon, L.W. Lierly, Fred Naber and Willis A. Potter.

This meeting is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

thanks to Bolman and Hood

The Carmel Valley Village Committee feels that special thanks are due R.H. Bolman and Al Hood for their cooperation in helping to beautify and improve the Village area.

Bob Kvenild, speaking on behalf of the committee, said that an expression of appreciation is due them for the work that has been done on and near their commercial property recently.

Bolman is the owner of the acreage at the corner of Carmel Valley and Ford Roads. The committee had the corner area seeded with rye grass, along with poppy and lupin seed, together with other maintenance work. Bolman paid for all the expenses incurred.

Hood has not only cleaned up and beautified the airstrip area itself, but mowed the strip by the airport and has contributed greatly to a much improved appearance of that entire area.

Kvenild added that he felt a public expression to both men was due, since they had both gone beyond their own responsibilities in cooperating with the Village Committee's beautification program.

River ordinance fails to get board approval

An ordinance to control building and excavation along the banks of the Carmel River was discussed at last week's meeting of the County Board of Supervisors and then dropped without a vote.

The measure, drafted by Supervisor Willard Branson and supported by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, would have tightened controls on dumping in or on the banks of the river or its tributaries, west to San Clemente Dam, and would have banned any construction close to the river without a special permit.

Although before the meeting Branson had said he was "quite optimistic" that the ordinance would be adopted, he did not press for a vote after residents living along the river expressed strong opposition to it.

Attorney Myron Etienne, representing some of the affected property owners, said some people felt the ordinance was unconstitutional or unenforceable, while others thought it would hinder their own efforts to protect their property from flood damage.

After the hearing, Branson told the Outlook that he had heard from "a majority of the people along the river, and the response from them was totally negative, so there was no point in going ahead with it. I am not trying to force the police power on something like this."

Branson said he felt that the public hearing he held at the Community Center on the ordinance, and the discussion since then, at least served the purpose of pointing out the need for co-operation all along the river.

"Perhaps these people can achieve the same thing without an ordinance. I certainly hope they can," he added.
